ENCHANTING, PRIVATE HORSE COUNTRY ESTATE OFFERED AS EXCLUSIVE WEDDING VENUE

GET ACQUAINTED

Tucked into the rolling hills of the historic horse country of Harford County, Maryland, is an enchanting private country estate, Foxfire, offering a manicured backdrop desirable for even the most discerning wedding-couple-to-be. The frolicking horses in the open pastures lend to the relaxed atmosphere, but mixing beauty with hospitality seems to be a theme for owners, Alex and Sue Glasscock, founders of The Ranch and The Ranch 4.0 at Live Oak Malibu, California that feature transformative wellness, fitness and detox programs.

HERE'S THE SCOOP

Foxfire is a charming and eloquent private, country estate dating back to 1932. From the first moment you pass the gates with life-size fox statues welcoming you, the lingering driveway takes you past pastures with horses and barns laced with commanding maple trees. The manicured landscaping starts to unfold as you reach the Ralph Lauren white manor house. Your event will be quite exclusive as owners only allow four wedding weekends a year. Recently, the influential interior designer, Steven Gambrel, reimagined the 1932 estate, creating a crisp and romantically chic feel while still paying homage to the working horse farm it revealed in the past. If you're an early riser you might even catch a glimpse of a foxhunt sprinting across the back-grounds of the estate.

BIG DAY DETAILS

A wedding at Foxfire can take you way beyond the wedding itself. The estate grounds include 127 acres and offer a horse country palette for you and your wedding planner to create the most memorable and exclusive wedding weekend where your imagination can be realized.
